National Numeracy Family Maths Toolkit Scrapbook- This has been created by National Numeracy and has been designed to be used with short, fun, weekly activities to help develop your child's confidence with numbers. They are based on the maths your child learns at school. You can adapt the activities to suit your family's interests and use whatever items you may have at home. You can record what you do together in the scrapbook, for example you might want to take photos, draw pictures, write calculations or create diagrams. The weekly task will be put on the door for you to take a photo of and complete at home.
